

Shrapnel Bullet

Dozens of these small spherical projectiles made of lead were packed into artillery shells during the First World War. When fired, they would kill or seriously injure any soldiers or horses that they hit.

This shrapnel bullet was found on a battlefield site in Belgium.

Original artifact