

Soap © Canadian War Museum

Soap

Bars of soap like this were part of millions of packages the Canadian Red Cross sent to Allied prisoners of war. The parcels provided essential food and supplies. During the Second World War, Canada produced nearly 16.5 million of these parcels.

Reproduction