

Navy Rating's Cap © Canadian War Museum

Navy Rating's Cap

Enlisted members of the Royal Canadian Navy were often known as “ratings”. The rating's cap was a distinctive part of the traditional uniform they wore during the Second World War. It was worn mostly ashore or for certain activities aboard ship.

Reproduction